

Regional Banking Taskforce

An Australia postal bank could offer many benefits to Australians, including providing banking services to Australians who are currently underserved by the existing banking sector, especially in rural and regional areas.

An Australia postal bank could begin by offering basic savings and transaction accounts,

Berry NSW has only one main brand bank and one post office the bank is not always open but post office is