

Postal office banking

I wish to express my opinion regarding the institution of a Post Office banking service in Australia. It has become very obvious to everyone with eyes to see that the Big Four have no interest whatsoever in providing banking services to remote areas or even small to medium suburbs in our major cities.

I live in Earlwood, a medium size suburb of Sydney with a population of around 20000 people. We used to have branches from all four banks, but the last 2 have both closed in the past year and taken their ATM's with them.

All we have now is 1 Supermarket where we can withdraw small sums of cash and I am extremely disappointed with our government for allowing this situation to develop.

I hope you, as our representatives, will give serious consideration to providing a convenient and healthy alternative to the banking businesses who have all betrayed us.
