

Regional banking submission

As an Australian who travels extensively throughout regional and outback Australia and often relies on cash and its accessibility to make purchases, I call on this enquiry to recommend an Australia Post Office Bank.

Where there is no internet, or the internet is down as is often the case, you can always rely on cash to get what you need, particularly when buying petrol passing through a small town.

The reasons are that Australia Post offices are located in every small town within Australia whereas the major banks are no where to be seen, closing down branches left, right and centre - often removing the ATM's as well.

If Australia Post offered banking services where deposits are Government Guaranteed , I would have no hesitation in closing all my accounts that are with the big 4 banks and deposit the lot with the Australia Post Bank.

I hereby submit to the enquiry my support for the implementation of a Government Guaranteed Australia Post Bank where I can deposit all my savings and get them out of the corrupt, private banking cartel which our Government forces us to use.

Regards Michael Ooms